What's New in the Post Office?

Built-in Mail Server Post Office delivers mail to the sender and lets you fetch mail from external sources, even if they're on remote servers. It supports multiple mail accounts and can even handle multiple mailboxes on the same account, at the same time. Its built-in Web server can be used to host a company website. It's very easy to set up and requires no licensing fees. Post Office Features:

1. Simple Setup--You'll be up and running in minutes.
2. Connect to External Sources--With Post Office, you can get external sources to relay their mail to you.
3. Powerful Search--Search your mail and account data with flexible search queries. You can search on all fields, the sender, recipient, or subject line.
4. Premium Reports--Analyze the most important mail data by time, sender, recipient, and domain.
5. Remote Webmail--Access and manage your mail and online account from any web browser. Post Office Webmail is usable on any platform from any web browser, or you can use its built in email client to access your mail.
6. Content Filter--Filter out Junk, Viruses, and Spam with Post Office. It's the best way to protect your computer against malware and viruses.
7. Sender and Recipient Rate Limits--Limit the number of messages a sender can send to you in one hour. If a sender sends more than the limit, the messages will be filtered.
8. Accessible Mailboxes--Post Office lets you have multiple mailboxes. You can create mailboxes for different types of mail, like general mail, messages from your webmail account, and read messages from your online account. Each mailbox is identified by a name.
9. Automatic Retrieval--The mail and account data is stored on a temporary file and not on your hard disk. This reduces the amount of time it takes for your mail to appear.
10. Notifications--Don't miss a message. Track messages, download them, or set up autoreplies.
11. Multilingual Support--The mail and account data is stored in English by default, but you can easily change this. Post Office supports over 25 languages. Notice: Post Office is on deprecation process, and we will stop this version support. If you choose Post Office version 5.0.9 For you can not use the Windows service because of the technical situation. So we stopped the
